CHICAGO'S STRAW HAT DAY
A LION IN FOUR HOURS
TELL 'EM QUICK AND OFTEN
FLIRTATIOUS GANGSTER

By Arthur Brisbane

CHICAGO, May 27—Yesterday was straw hat day in Chicago, warm summer weather which is appropriate, a heavy rainstorm at noon bad for straw hats.

Chicago takes "our depression" cheerfully. A Chicago man will tell you, "I don't know whether we have reached bottom or not, but I know the bottom is there, won't run away, and I am not worrying."

George Buckley of Wall Street, New York, who absorbed business cheerfulness in Chicago, passing through to visit the folks in Iowa, expressed the feeling of many Chicagoans. "There is nothing the matter with me, that a million dollars would not cure."

JOHN MCKINLAY, president of Marshall Field & Co., shows you the world's biggest building, "The Merchandise Mart," built to supply for the country's wholesalers, a concentrated show-room market for buyers from everywhere.

This building, with four million feet of floor space, should be duplicated in other big cities when times get better. The railroad runs under it delivering goods, and there is a private freight platform for trucks 700 feet long. The railroad owns the ground, the building owns the air and the small amount of ground in which its supporting columns are buried.

JAMES SIMPSON is away, showing Africa and Asia, a big samples of Chicago efficiency. His son was shooting in Africa. James Simpson took an airplane in Egypt, flew down to the country where lions roar and bite, and shot his first lion four hours after he landed. Thence he proceeded to India to shoot tigers and will be back in a week.

Greater efficiency hath or could have no man than this unless he should bring his lions to Chicago and shoot them on the lake front.

P. K. WRIGLEY, carrying on the business of his father, the late William Wrigley Jr., is a good thermometer of business conditions. Everybody that sells anything also sells his product. His father used to say he had 110 per cent distribution, 100 per cent of those that ought to sell chewing gum and 10 per cent that had no business selling it.

Two hundred thousand small distributors have folded their tents like the Arabs and no longer distribute. But Mr. Wrigley says business conditions satisfy him, thanks to the fact that he lives up to his father's advertising motto, "Tell 'em quick and tell 'em often."

Other advertisers might borrow that slogan.

DR. RICHELLE YARROS, intelligent young woman who supervises family consultation for the Illinois Social Hygiene league, asserts positively that husbands do not want to be flighty and uncertain.

They want to settle down permanently, they want to be faithful.

MUSIC, ORATORY MARK SCHOOL'S COMMENCEMENT

Capacity Audience Present As Record Class Is Graduated

156 SENIORS ARE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

High School Orchestra and Glee Club Assist
In Program

An interesting program of music and oratory marked the 68th annual high school commencement exercises last night at which a record-breaking class of graduates, 156 in all, received diplomas before a capacity audience, including relatives and friends of the honored students.

Large baskets of iris, spiraea and snowballs, with palms were used to beautify the front of the auditorium.

Eight Give Orations

Three honor graduates, Miss Mary Louise Miller, Miss Virginia Grama and Miss Selma Liebschner, with five other members of the class, Jack Ballantine, Lorin Battin, Mary Louise Scullion, Lionel Smith and Gordon Scullion, were chosen by the class to give orations.

While the graduates assembled on the stage, the high school orchestra, under the direction of Walter F. Regal, played the processional, "Hope March."

After the invocation by Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, presented the class.

At the conclusion of the program diplomas were presented the graduates by Frederick P. Mullins, president of the board of education, who congratulated them on their accomplishments. Mullins encouraged the students to seek to be their best in their chosen profession or vocation pointing out that this was the duty of specialists and stated that "success breeds success." He brought out the thought that idleness is full of dangers.

Announces Scholarships

Wilbur J. Springer, principal of the high school, was in charge of the class roll. Springer announced that three scholarships would be awarded at the annual Alumni reunion of the High school tonight. The first is $350 and the others $250 and $150.

The commencement program and excerpts from the orations follows: Miss Mary Louise Miller, honor graduate, first speaker on the program gave an oration on "The Progress of Television."

Miss Miller said: "There is an unexplored land of radio thrills awaiting you. It is just beyond the tuning limits of the ordinary broadcast receiver. Among the lower wave lengths there are startling police radio alarms from many cities."

KIWANIS LAUDS WAR VETERANS

H. L. McCarthy Speaks
At Grand Army Day
Observance

Responsibilities of the living to the war dead formed the theme for an address by Atty H. L. McCarthy in a memorial day program held by the Kiwanis club at the Memorial building Thursday.

McCarthy spoke on the subject, "Let Us Forget," in the annual observance of "Grand Army Day" by the club, in which two members of Prescott post, G. A. R., were guests of honor.

The two veterans, Charles Bonnell and William Horne, are two of seven surviving Civil war veterans residing in Salem and vicinity.

The meeting was in charge of a committee headed by Dr. Leroy Hartsoff.

Sacrifices made by veterans of three wars were declared by Atty McCarthy to have placed grave responsibilities on living persons who "now are delegated to preserve what those valiant soldiers sought to maintain."

Speculators in Chicago's financial district have just discovered that the crop forecaster they have been praising as "that man Miller" is not a man at all, but a woman. The crop reports which bore the signature of "E. H. Miller" gave the impression that they were the work of a masculine statistician. The "E" stands for Eileen and this is her picture. She is one of the only three women in her profession in this country.

SENATE TOILS ON ITS REVENUE RAISING PLANS

Measure Running Behind
In Required Billion-Dollar Yield

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The 1-75 per cent sales tax amendment was introduced today in the senate by Senator Walsh (D., Mass.).

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The senate plunged today in the grand finale of its nearly completed revenue raising exploits.

A rousing showdown fight was imminent over the general sales tax—the very same issue that tumbled the revenue bill to catastrophe in the house.

Sponsors Claim Edge

Its sponsors, now claiming enough votes to win, were saving their rally to the last, leaving the members free to wrangle first over increasing postage rates, taxes on stock and bond transfers, bank checks, oil pipe lines and a grab-bag miscellany. Some optimists talked of winding up in passage of the bill today or tomorrow, but such a sudden finish was far from certain. So far the bill is running behind its required billion dollar yield by about $66,000,000. To bridge the gap, a considerable group was backing a plan to boost the income taxes once again.

Reshuffle Excise Taxes

The shortage came about through reshuffling the special excise taxes, cutting some of the more extravagant and reinserting a collection of "nuisance" levies. All day long yesterday, with surprising speed, tax after tax was approved. The senators in charge of the measure were run ragged keeping up.

Leaders of both parties, for and against the sales tax then spoke out jointly in an assurance that the needed revenue would be raised.

Lindbergh To Act Against "Hoaxer"

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 27.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is ready to take a personal hand in the prosecution of John H. Curtis for the hoax to which Curtis has confessed.

He has expressed to Prosecutor Anthony Hauck, who will have charge of the prosecution of Curtis "intermediary" in the famous kidnapping case. His willingness to take the stand if Curtis is indicted.

Just what action has been taken by the Hunterdon county grand jury has not been officially announced. It is generally understood Curtis has been indicted for obstructing justice.

The specific charge was that of interfering with justice by giving false clues while the hunt for the Lindbergh baby, then believed to be alive, was on.

He confessed to giving Lindbergh false hopes of recovering the baby in the hope of receiving money later by selling his story to newspapers.

Took Water Meter Off Line Is Charge

George W. Allen of Salem, former Perry township justice of the peace, Thursday entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of violating Salem waterworks department regulations, furnishing $100 bond for hearing before Mayor J. M. Davidson at 2 p. m. next Tuesday.

Allen was arrested Wednesday night by Patrolmen William Reardon and Edward Piller on an affidavit filed by Service Director Clyde R. Reich charging him with having broken a seal on a water line and disconnected the water meter at a home owned by the defendant.

Allen was lodged in city jail Wednesday night and was given preliminary arraignment in Mayor Davidson's court yesterday.

Further borrowing 'Shock

BULLETIN

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 27.—Speaker Garner today led the house Democrats forces into direct opposition to the Hoover administration on the one final, important issue coming before congress.

This is the relief of destitution and expansion of employment.

Spectacular Program

Garner's bill, carrying funds for direct federal relief, expanded reconstruction loans, and a spectacular program detailing hundreds upon hundreds of cities and towns to share in a billion dollars worth of federal building, was ushered into the house on a basis that had all the earmarks of strict partisanship.

Democrats of the house had met by themselves last night to hear Garner expound the plan, and to give it an informal, standing vote of approval. Accentuating the meaning of this move, was the simultaneous enunciation by Secretary Mills of the administration's flat opposition to a public works program, and to any further borrowing whatever as a "shock to public confidence."

But Garner's future plans made his intention even clearer. "The bill was headed for the ways and means committee, to be reported back for action by next week. Then Garner intends to secure in a Democratic caucus the formal approval of the party, making possible steamroller passage through the house. What the senate Democrats, with other plans, will do, remain to be seen.

What It Provides

This relief measure provides specifically: $100,000,000 to be spent by the President, through any agency he may designate, to relieve destitution wherever it may occur; capital expansion to $3,000,000,000 of the reconstruction finance corporation, with provision that it may make loans to any private American interest or any state or political subdivision furnishing proper security; and expenditure of $1,000,000,000 on public buildings, highway construction, rivers and harbors and flood control.

IS SALES TAX THE ANSWER?

Congress, a lost traveler in the deep woods of taxation, wanders endlessly in a circle. It started from the sales tax and now, after months of painful wandering, is coming back to it again.

The reason is obvious. The necessity of getting more revenue from federal taxation has caused congress to broaden the basis of taxation. But as each new item is brought up for consideration, objections to its inclusion in the tax bill are made.

This whittling process, the result of charges of unfair discrimination, has strengthened the case for a sales tax to place all taxable commodities under the same rate. It is as just as making all men subject to the same law.

It is pointed out, and with good justification, by opponents of the sales tax that if it is adopted it will be considered as a compromise rather than the ideal solution. In this, as in other national problems, however, it is necessary to deal directly with reality. A drowning man does not spurn a spar because it isn't a boat.

Those who advocate the sales tax as an ideal compromise between the necessity of raising revenue and the seeming impossibility of drawing up a schedule of excise and nuisance taxes that will get through congress are willing to admit that their plan is in the nature of an experiment.

The truth is that the sales tax, though close to perfect in theory, would be accompanied by many shortcomings in practice. It never has been applied to the extent that its application in the United States would involve. It is a solution that governments have been reluctant to try, particularly governments in which the controlling balance of power lies with the people.

This is, however, not so much an indictment of the tax as of the courage of the people's representatives, who are notoriously afraid of going on record for taxes that are distributed over all the people. In the current campaign against the sales tax, opponents have made it a class issue.

If it were possible to bring the entire population, including those who lead public opinion, to face reality, there would be acknowledgment of the fact that the burden of taxation always is shifted, regardless of where it is placed in the first instance. No one honestly believes that punitive taxation inflicted on the wealthy is borne by them alone. They pass it along.

There is just so much revenue to be raised. Every American is going to help foot the bill, regardless of the tax method used. In years past, thanks to inflation and its effect on the large income class, it has been possible to do business with an income tax. Now, as dwindling income tax returns clearly show, that method is practical no longer.

The best that can be hoped for is a system that will be fair to everybody. In the present instance, whatever congress decides in its confused condition, a combination of the sales tax and a moderate income tax would constitute such a system. It is the logical solution of a grave national problem.

THE LITTLE THINGS

In the widespread disclosures of governmental extravagance that are holding the people's interest during these penny-pinching, high-taxation times, it would be fatal to the public interest to lose sight of one important fact. It is that little extravagances, taken in the mass over a long period of time, make big extravagances.

There is the matter of free mail, for instance. Why should the people get angry because a congressman wastes a few hundred dollars of public money waging an election campaign with the assistance of the postoffice? In fact, there is evidence that many office holders have become so accustomed to privileges like this one that they are incapable of understanding why it should be resented.

They have the reason at hand, in the records of the postoffice department. In 1931 members of congress mailed out 33,413,032 free pieces of mail—enough to load 123 mail trains. Postage would have amounted to $723,671, which would have been that much deducted from the annual deficit incurred by the department.

A large part of this material was sent in envelopes furnished and handled at public expense. Much of it was campaign literature, sent under the franking privilege because it had been extracted from the Congressional Record, where it was inserted bodily, also at public expense, for no other reason than to permit of its being taken out again. Some of it was distributed in the interests of people not even in congress; congressmen loan their franking privilege to friends.

This is a little thing, relatively speaking. But it and hundreds of other abuses heaped on the happy-go-lucky people who have been willing to let government run itself have hastened the day of reckoning when grafters are going to have to fight to save their necks. In local, county state and federal government, office holders have taken the rope played out to them and foolishly have prepared to hang themselves. And the fun hasn't much more than started.

What Others Say

ANOTHER NOMINEE FROM MARION

Ohio is certain to have one of her sons at the head of a national ticket, whatever may happen at the two big conventions.

He is Norman Thomas, nominated Sunday for president by the Socialist party. He'll be labeled on the ticket as from New York. But he is Buckeye born, a native of Marion, where he spent his boyhood in a farmhouse and carried a route for Mr. Harding's Star.

Unlike his rivals on the two major party tickets, he will not have to worry about being elected. He need not promise a job to anyone, for there won't be any jobs. He suffers from no inhibitions lest indiscreet campaign utterances be cast up against him as an office holder.

He is in the happy position of being able to shout a "plause on both your houses," and swing his gun blithely from Republican to Democratic objectives. Mr. Thomas does this very well, as many who heard him in 1928 will recall. He was presidential candidate then, too, and his sprightly addresses by air were an entertaining interlude between the radio appeals of Alfred E. Smith and President Hoover's warnings to keep prosperity by retaining Republicanism in office.

By all odds the radio oratorical honors of the 1928 campaign went to Candidate Thomas, but very few of the votes. He polled 267,420, or only a little more than a quarter of the Socialist high mark of 919,799 cast for Eugene V. Debs in 1920.

Since the Socialists don't expect to get very many votes, anyway, they take these small votes philosophically. There is a party of protest and has no immediate expectation of coming into office.

Candidate Thomas is an able and forceful leader of such an effort. The situation of the American Socialists is a bit difficult as they forge their platform. Many issues which once were their have been taken over by the enemy.

On the one hand the Communists claim them for being reactionary, while on the other the "capitalist" parties have calmly annexed ideas and principles for which Comrade Debs and others were denounced 30 and 40 years ago. Which may be taken as simply another indication that much of the program of the Left may eventually be brought into being through the agency of the Right—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MARSHFIELD, Ore.—Glen Parr, chemist, claims to have perfected and discovered a method of extracting oil from white cedar stumps. His plant turns out 24 gallons of oil daily, he said. The stumps are blasted and removed, leaving the land clear for cultivation. He operates in logged-off areas.

"Boy Wizard" in the Toils

Known as the "Boy Wizard of Wall Street" in 1924, when he succeeded in running a $2,500 stake up nearly a million by daring speculation, Charles H. Greenhaus, 35, of New York, is shown (left) as he was taken to the Tombs Prison after his arrest with several others, charged with forging "Wavelets" checks. Greenhaus has often been in the spotlight owing to his spectacular financial operations.

Lockjaw Fatalities Now Fewer

An injury to the skin in which there has been an entrance of dirt is dangerous. Such an injury, with the presence of the right germ and if neglected, may result in tetanus. The same danger attaches to a puncture of the skin with anything that carries dirt into the tissues.

Of particular danger are street injuries and gunshot wounds. With the oncoming of the Fourth of July, great precautions should be taken against accidents from blank cartridges and fireworks. Wounds caused by them may be contaminated by the tetanus germ. Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a disease in which the body becomes stiff, the chewing and swallowing muscles won't work, and severe convulsions occur. It is a dangerous ailment.

In some statistics I saw, it was recorded that 809 per cent of tetanus cases are found in injuries occurring on the street, in homes, gardens or stables. The worst case I ever saw followed a fall from a bicycle, where the palms of the hands were scraped on the gravel of the road. It is far less likely to result from industrial accidents.

Fortunately we now have at our disposal a means of combating this most dreaded disease, for by means of "tetanus antitoxin" it may be prevented.

However, for this treatment to be successful, it should be given immediately after the infliction of any contaminated injury, and in addition to giving the tetanus antitoxin, it is essential that the wound be thoroughly cleansed and receive whatever surgical treatment is necessary.

With the use of antitoxin, the mortality from this disease has been reduced at least one-half. The fatal cases now are usually due to negligence on the part of the patient; so never fail to seek medical advice if you have injured yourself.

Please remember that the antitoxin must be given immediately after receiving the injury, and that when it is given promptly, there is very remote danger of tetanus.

In former years, when tetanus antitoxin was not known, it was customary to cauterize all suspected wounds. This painful and unpleasant procedure is no longer necessary if tetanus antitoxin is given.

Do not misunderstand me. Tet-

Car in Which Race Track Pilot Went to His Death

Sgt. Harry Cox, mechanic, member of the 113th Observation Squadron of the Indiana National Guard, was instantly killed and Benny Benefield, 25, dirt track driver of Indianapolis, was critically injured Wednesday when the car in which they were practicing for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis was wrecked. The car was the same one in which Joe Caccia and his mechanic were killed while practicing for the race at Indianapolis last year. Photo shows wreckage of car after it plunged over the outer wall of the speedway at Indianapolis.

anus antitoxin is not a substitute for local treatment. It is only an occasional wound that is infected with this particular germ, but every wound is subject to infection with other germs, less deadly but nevertheless disagreeable.

If every injury were treated at once, by thorough cleansing and the application of iodine, it would make a great difference in the average of results from wounds.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, May 28
A fairly lively and colorful day is forecast from the positions of the moon as it intervenes in human affairs. This intervention is rather negative, so much depends upon personal manipulation. There may be fresh opportunities to better circumstances by change, removal, journey or new associations, but these should be engineered without turmoil and confusion. There may be small anxieties or postponements but the day is much as one makes it, with good incentives to action.
Those whose birthday it is may assure themselves a lively and interesting year by availing themselves of fair opportunities for change, journey or removal. Deal carefully with strangers and shun haste, confusion and abrupt movements. A child born on this day should carve for itself an interesting and fairly adventurous career.

ST. LOUIS—A bas-relief plaque of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the work of Frederick George Holly, was added to the extensive collection of Lindbergh trophies here. A replica of the plaque was given to Miss Helen Kellar, blind genius, whose poem dedicated to Colonel Lindbergh inspired the work.

they are at heart almost as monogamous as the wild gander that never takes a new mate when the goose dies, but spends its life mourning, although eating heartily.

In fact, Dr. Yarros says, men that have not found the right woman and settled down permanently, are pitifully lonely.

MR. GUS SANGER, kidnaping gangster, has made a discovery important to kidnapers, namely, that the kidnaper should attend to one thing at a time. He and his comrades kidnaped Dr. Max Gecht and wife. They deprived the wife of all her clothing and chained her to the foot of the bed, that she might not escape, but offered no other violence.

Foolish Gus Sanger mixed love-making with kidnaping and arranged to meet Mrs. Gecht on her return to private life.

That intelligent lady, who believes in punishing wrongdoers encouraged him sufficiently to secure his arrest and that of his gang. One escaped, two will go to prison for life, the susceptible Mr. Sanger turned state's evidence and got off.

Woover of Widows

Despite his 53 years, this gay Lothario, Joseph N. Stieckler, whose romances are now being investigated at Allegan, Mich., expresses no remorse at his alleged marriages to five well-to-do widows without going through the formality of getting a divorce from any of them. He says he was "just looking for love" and that he would do the same thing over again, had he another life to live.

DETROIT—Because many Detroit children never have seen a farm, the city is adding chickens, cows, horses and ducks to the exhibits at the Zoo. The Zoo exhibit will include a typical American farm house. The family pump and barnyard, cluttered with harvesting equipment, will be shown.

S. H. S. NEWS

Summer dropped down on us, all of a sudden and on such a busy week, everybody trying to finish up housecleaning, and a thousand and one other jobs to be done.

Should there be any floors to wax, a dollar spent for renting an "electric floor waxer" is money well spent.

Have you noticed how the flies are coming? "Screen doors" and "windows" must be in shape as it is easier to keep them out than to drive them out. Screen doors in all sizes and a good quality for the back or grade door at $2.50. For the front door a heavy paneled screen can be purchased for $4.00. "Screen windows" in all sizes and adjustable to any window, range in price from 25c to 60c.

The next thing is to fix up the porch and get a pot of flowers ready for the cemetery. "Decorative flower pots" come in all sizes to meet every need. A wonderful value in a large "jardiniere" retailing for $1.00, will help out in the porch or sun parlor arrangements. And don't forget the "bird baths" for the lawn at $1.98 and $3.95.

The picknicker and week-end tourist will also need some supplies. How pleasant it is to pack your lunch, or better yet, cook your dinner out in the open. Everything has a better flavor and how the children look forward to a picnic.

A picnic kit equipped now will be a pleasure all summer. A set of unbreakable cups at 10c each, salt and pepper sets in the same unbreakable wear at 25c a pair, enamel plates, an inexpensive cutlery and cooking utensils make a complete outfit. Camp stools at 25c each can be folded into a very small space.

Stamp Home Stores, Inc., phone 75 can furnish any of the above items and will be glad to assist you in selecting your summer needs.

Monday, May 30th, is Decoration Day. Let us pause and pay tribute to our soldiers dead.

For the most part, offerings were extremely light, but the covering movement which brought yesterday's late upturn appeared to have spent itself. Issues losing a point or so included American Tobacco "B," Reynolds Tobacco "B," New York Central, Union Pacific, American Telephone and North American. Fractional losses appeared in General Electric, American Can, Santa Fe, and others. U. S. Steel was barely steady.

Safety Aid for Blind Solons

Representative William Hull (right) of Illinois, is shown as he presented red, white and blue walking sticks to Senators T. D. Schall of Minnesota, and T. P. Gore of Oklahoma, the two blind members of the Upper House. The canes were given by the Lions Clubs of America which are trying to have a bill passed forcing all auto traffic for persons carrying such canes at street crossings.

Set for Memorial Day Grind

Two men who will seek fame and fortune in the 500-mile automobile classic at the Indianapolis Speedway on Memorial Day are Frank Brisko and Cliff Durant, who are spending every minute tuning their cars to get the last ounce of power. Durant is after the fame, and, as he is already a millionaire, the fortune doesn't matter much.

CORNING, Cal.—There's one bull snake in Corning that wished he had gone on a diet. The snake crawled into a bird cage at Warren McCroskey's home, swallowed the canary, and then found itself trapped in the cage by the knot the bird made in his body.

Flashes of Life

SAN FRANCISCO — Nine tame seals is the city aquarium have been put on the pay roll of the Commercial Fishing Industry to keep them out of the Pacific ocean. When only $10 apiece was bid for the $1,000 seals the city thought to turn them loose in the ocean. The fishermen came running. "Don't do that," they cried in alarm. "Those seals would hang around the bay and fish us out of business. Keep 'em where they are and we'll feed 'em free."

DOUGLAS, Ga. — Newt Carver knows his chickens and Newt Carver's chickens know their roosts. When Newt saw three fowls in a shop, he didn't say anything, just bought the chickens. He took them home and watched them at roosting time. One went to the henhouse, another flew into a Chinaberry tree and the third sought her old place in another tree. On the basis of this proof of ownership a father and son were convicted of chicken stealing.

"Fresh Paint"

There's an advertisement for you. The sign "Fresh Paint" registers; it starts a train of thought; it's news! The skeptic may apply a doubtful finger; but most of us believe this message. Tomorrow when the paint is no longer "fresh," this sign will be gone.

Every day of the year, newspapers are crammed chock-full of such fresh news. It may be the latest information from a great international conference . . . It may be a description of new styles in shoes at a local store . . . But whether it's battleships or ladies' footwear, it's NEWS, fresh, vital, important, timely—the story of the present, the hint of the future.

The advertisements in a daily newspaper mirror local commerce with all the flexibility and up-to-dateness of the front page. The public is not interested in last month's grocery specials, any more than in last month's baseball or football games. So the advertising in your daily paper must change—day by day—just as the news columns. And why not? Advertisements are news!

When a friend of yours shows a profound ignorance of important current events, you say—"Don't you ever read the papers?" You may ask the same question of all those who never know where to shop . . . or what's new in the world of merchandise. That's all in the papers . . . in advertisements . . . news . . . the latest . . . the true . . . the timeliest.

FAMOUS NAMES TO RING AGAIN

Garfield and Taft To Be Heard As Republican Hosts Gather

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 27.—Garfield and Taft!

The names of these famed Ohioans, printed indelibly on the pages of American history, will be heard again in the convention hall at Chicago when the Republican hosts gather to name a standard bearer for the November presidential election.

The Buckeye delegation to the Republican National convention, pledged to President Hoover as first choice for the nomination, will include James R. Garfield and Robert Alphonse Taft as delegates-at-large. These sons of the former presidents will aid in the selection of nominees and in formulating the platform which the party of their fathers will present to the voters this year.

For two score years Garfield, a resident of Mentor, O., and a Cleveland attorney, has participated in Republican national conventions. The home he occupies at Mentor was the home of his illustrious father. The son has held many public offices, including that of secretary of the interior under Roosevelt.

Taft, son of the 27th president of the United States, is a native of Cincinnati, his present home. He served several terms as a state representative from Hamilton county, and at the present time is a state senator. He is a director of various business enterprises in his home city, and is recognized as one of the leading tax experts of Ohio.

and states: airplanes and airports converse back and forth in safeguarding air travel; radio amateurs swap experiences and ideals while laughing at distance; important radio communication experiments are yours to take part in; and lastly, there is Television—programs you can see as well as hear.

"Radio and television engineers and scientists have given the public every reason to expect commercial television within a comparatively short time and there is no doubt that the engineers themselves confidently expect to obtain it.

Tells About War

"War" was the subject of Jack Ballantine's oration. He said: "The subject of this speech is neither cheerful nor optimistic. Of all the loathsome words, there is none so associated with horror as that word which spells war. It brings before our eyes the grey spectre of death and the utter devastation of governments. Empires rise and fall at its command. The armies of one generation carry on upon the dust of the soldiers of yesterday.

"Was it not said after the last war in which we participated that, it was a war to end all wars? How can we forget that funeral procession, that slowly moved from the capitol building to Arlington cemetery on Nov. 11, 1921. Smiles mingled with tears because we thought that with his burial, the God of War had been vanquished. The years pass and we come to the years of 1931 and '32. We learn that nations who made this vow are taking up the same policies as before and are spending in preparation for the next war three times more than was spent in 1914."

Trend of Science

Third honor graduate, Miss Selma Liebschner, used for her theme, "The Trend of Modern Science." Miss Liebschner stated "Unlike most human activities, science is always moving on to something new, ever advancing into the unknown. The dramas of human life which are presented to us in our newspapers and novels are based on a few simple plots which are repeated from generation to generation with but few variations.

"But in the sciences, based on the inventions and industries based on these sciences we find a genuine novelty and a perpetual progress. "But what is science? It is agreed that it is the tested knowledge that comes from experience. In applying his test, any and all methods which will reduce errors of judgment to a minimum are used."

"Science has bettered the conditions of life; it has refined them. It has given us a better understanding of the laws of life and the universe."

Sequence of Life.

Lorin Battin spoke on "The Sequence of Life." He said: "There is a certain sequence of life which we should all follow. This is that we develop—first our bodies, then our minds and finally our social selves.

"To study the life of George Washington, whose bicentennial we are now celebrating, is to study a splendid cooperative unit of the combination of these three phases of life.

"If we wish to be numbered among the lovers of thought, lovers of America and democracy, we must turn our minds over to the task of creating a social civilization in which we shall rid ourselves of those grave social maladjustments which now threaten our existence."

"We must outlaw war, defeat disease, eradicate crime and improve the individual character.

Triumphs of Enthusiasm

Mary Louise Scullion, whose oration was on "The Triumphs of Enthusiasm" said: "All great achievements of the world are a result of enthusiasm. If a man or a country is to succeed he must be alert, eager, Enthusiasm is being awake; it is the tingling of every fibre of one's being to do the work that his heart desires.

"Today, for the first time in history, knowledge is becoming universal. Agitators are being replaced by educators. The people see at last that intellect and ability are the real creators of wealth. This is a direct result of enthusiasm for education fostered by our public schools.

"Enthusiasm is the greatest business asset in the world. It excels money and power and influence.

On Keeping Friends

In his oration on "Friendship" Lionel Smith stated "To more clearly understand the benefits derived from friendships, we might for convenience look at our process of getting and keeping our friends as compared to the methods used in banking money. We must have virtues to get friends just as we must have money to bank it. Then sealing our friendships might be compared to the actual depositing of the cash.

"The only reward of virtue is virtue—the only way to have a friend is to be one. The more we hear about how to be a friend and how to keep one the more we are able to comprehend its importance."

Defines Conviction

Gordon Scullion, whose oration was on "Conviction" declared: "Conviction is a strong belief born of reason and conscience. It is the soul's deep sense of truth and rightness. It begets a resoluteness that enables the individual to endure opposition, defy persecution and to face death in its defense. It endows the possessor with enthusiasm, invincible determination and a spirit of self sacrifice which places him among the leaders and benefactors of his race."

Quiz Mayer's Friends

Today Seabury expected to question, among others, Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick, a close friend of the mayor, and J. Allen Smith, an agent of some of the backers of the Equitable Bus company who purchased a $10,000 letter of credit for Walker about the time the latter signed a franchise for the Equitable. Seabury expected to question Smith about Walker's explanation that the money came from the mayor and his associates, not from the bus backer.

Seabury adduced records to show that of the $700,225 Sherwood deposited from Jan. 1, 1925, to last August, more than half was in cash. Walker insisted Sherwood's only connection with him was as an old employee of his law firm who "did little services for my wife and me."

When Seabury showed that Sherwood withdrew the $263,000 from the secret account on Aug. 9, 1927, the day before the mayor left for a European trip, the Democratic minority on the legislative committee protested bitterly.

"Counsel Seabury must have his headline and this is it," shouted Assemblyman Steingut of Brooklyn "Why, in the darkest days of Russia, nothing like this would take place."

France, Ruled by Radicals, Has Conservative President

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 27.—Albert Lebrun, the new President of France, elected for seven years, can only live out his term in the French White House, the Elysee Palace, by keeping his opinions in his pocket. But he knew it when he ran for the office and everybody expects him to live up to the rules of the game.

The President of France has much less power than the King of England. King George can let his personal fondness for Ramsay MacDonald affect his choice of Prime Minister. President Lebrun does not dare have any feelings at all. The only time he has a semblance of power is when he picks out the chief of the government, the Premier, and then he has no choice.

Lebrun is a conservative. Most of the Lorrainers are hard-headed conservatives. He would, no doubt, like to see the conservative leader, Andre Tardieu, in power again. But the elections have just shown that the country is radical and Socialist. Chamber of Deputies is headed by Eddouard Herriot, chief of the Radicals. If Herriot chooses to be next Premier, Lebrun will have to call him. If Herriot prefers for political reasons to have someone else as Premier, Lebrun will have to call Herriot's choice.

In selecting the Premier the leader who can maintain a majority in parliament has to be taken. There is no question of what is good for the country or of party policies. The Chamber keeps all that jealousy for itself.

The President of France spends his time laying corner-stones and receiving important foreigners in the Elysee. He is not a figure-head. He is silk hat.

Schoolboy Athletes To Clash For State Titles In Four Events

THE DAY

JUNE'S THE BIG MONTH

SCHMELING VS SHARKEY

THINGS QUIET IN SALEM

A WORLD'S heavyweight boxing championship, the Poughkeepsie regatta, the United States Open golf tournament, the English Derby, the British Open, Wightman Cup, Davis Cup, Wimbledon—these are a few of the stirring sports events for June.

It's the biggest sports month of the year. Only July, with its Olympic games, and November, with its climatic football games, will compare with it in importance.

And which, from a United States viewpoint, is the biggest event in June? Schmeling vs. Sharkey in New York, on the 21st. Biggest from the angle of most-discussed, and most-discussed because more persons will be anxious to know of its outcome than of any other event of the period.

The Poughkeepsie regatta has its place, as does the Yale-Harvard feature at New London, a few days later. If the Poughkeepsie race were of Olympic distance (1 1/4 miles) more importance would be attached to it. But they row four miles at Poughkeepsie, and the great rowing interest this year (outside the Olympic event itself) will center next month in the final tryout to select a U. S. rowing representative.

PENTY of interest in the U. S. Open. Can Billy Burke repeat? Yes, but will he? Will an "unknown" succeed Burke? Possibly so; it's a good year for such a development. Will Tommy Armour repeat in the British open? His chances are no better—probably not so good—than those of Burke in this country. The British women's tournament, begun in May, is another golf event to be decided in June.

Tennis fans, of which there are plenty, will read Wimbledon, Wightman Cup and Davis Cup results with some avidity. The Derby will have its usual following because of its long history and because of the "rags to riches" stories which come out of the event.

Then there is the Intercollegiate Outboard Motorboat regatta, in which the boat and motor manufacturers will have a keen interest; the intercollegiate golf championship, which will decide the intercollegiate golf championship; the intercollegiate tennis championship, ditto; the National A. A. U. 15-mile run, likewise; and the New London-Bermuda six-meter yacht race.

Besides, the major leagues will still be offering their daily doses of baseball.

YALE'S athletic right-about face caught the college sports world unawares today and left it astonished and, perhaps, mildly agast as well. The Yale plan, designed to go in effect, in 1933, after the residential house plan is established, would cut the varsity football schedule to five games, all against major opponents; bring about an endowment fund to cover athletic expenses, and at the same time sharply cut those expenses; provide for free admission of undergraduates to all contests; and make all students, regardless of scholastic standing, eligible or house teams under amateur coaching.

There were many other provisions in the plan drawn up by a survey committee and approved by President James Rowland Angell but these were the most important.

MOST INTERESTS attached, naturally, to the football phase of the plan. Yale's football schedule for 1932 calling for seven games, already has been mapped out and so has the program for 1933, but the five-game season probably will go into effect in 1934.

Under this plan, Yale would play only major and traditional rivals, leaving no place for the intercollegiate contests. Yale's program for 1934 thus probably will provide for games against Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Army and Brown.

In line with the plan to reduce expenses, the size of varsity squads would be sharply cut as would the number of Junior varsity teams.

Cleveland East Tech Favored In Struggle For Honors In Track

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 27.—Ohio high school championships in golf, tennis, track, and baseball were at stake in a two-day athletic carnival opening here today, with 600 boys from every section of the state competing.

Timed to start at 9 a. m. with the Class A and B baseball eliminations, the carnivals, sponsored annually by Ohio State university, will continue through tomorrow and indications were that each event would be a wide open race.

Preliminaries will be held this afternoon and the finals tomorrow at Ohio Stadium.

Lakewood's defending champions are among the leading choices to take the Class A team crown, while Oberlin, second to Dayton Oakwood last year, is expected to bring back the Class B championship.

Sandusky Is Threat
Outstanding rivals of the two Cleveland schools appear to be Columbus Central, winner of the state title five times until Lakewood broke the monopoly last year; Salem's Quakers, Cincinnati Withrow, and Sandusky. Sandusky, with a strong all-around team, rests its hopes primarily upon London Gant, its great all-around athlete and star field man.

Thirty points usually is sufficient to win the state meet. Last year

Lakewood needed only 27. Although anything can happen right now it appears that East Tech is good for six firsts, which in itself would net 36 points.

In Jesse Owens, its sensational holder of the broad jump record and junior, East Tech has the present a boy who is favored to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Earl Wrobel, mammoth 230-pound shot putter, tossed the iron ball here 49 feet 2-1/2 inches, and the record, set by Davis, another East Tech boy, is about a foot more. Dave Albritton consistently has been over six feet this year in the high jump, and East Tech's 880-yard relay, with Saunders, Copeland and Owens running in the last two places not only has been invincible this year but continually has flirted with the state record.

Lakewood Strong

But Lakewood, with Farmer, Hostelly, Hellstrom, Adams, Stuart and McBride, and its crack mile relay team of Norton, Andrews, Gazdik and Hostelly, still is a formidable threat to repeat as state champion.

Oberlin, having all-around strength, has two exceptional stars in Barnes and Fields. It is regarded as the Class B favorite in Columbus.

Salem will send nine athletes to the meet. They are Harold Horstman, Bruce Arnold, Wayne Russell, Edward Raymond, Edwin Beck, Irwin Beck, Keith Harris, Farn Sidinger and William Miller.

The Quakers are expected to rank among the first five point-makers in the Class A division and may even threaten the champions. Salem last year attained the rank of runner-up, finishing four-tenths of a point behind Lakewood. Lakewood had 27 points to the Quakers 26.6.

Sharon McMullen, Akron High track captain, who holds the Akron interscholastic record of 2:02.2 for the 880-yard run and who beat the state record with a time of 4:29.3 for the mile in the city meet here Wednesday will go to Columbus and attempt to break his own mark in the Ohio interscholastic meet.

North High, which won its first city track championship, will send six men to Columbus, Coach Luther Hosfield announced last night.

Johnny Rabb, who won individual honors and set a new discus record for Akron, will enter that event and the shot-put.

Raymond Markuson will run the 100 and 220-yard dashes and Johnny McKoski will enter the low hurdles. This pair will also run in the 880-yard and mile relays together with Chamberlain, Morris and Graham.

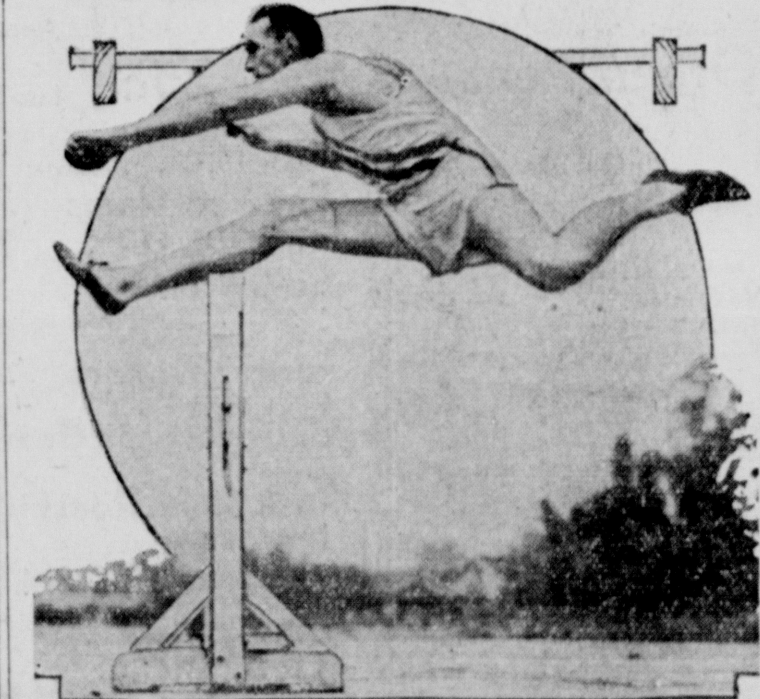

New Champs Expected
New diamond champions were certain to be crowned since last year's Class A and B titlists, Cincinnati Woodward and Delphos Jefferson, respectively, failed to win the right to compete again. Teams eligible for the Class A battle were Columbus South and North, Bridgeport, Cleveland West, Toledo Waite, Portsmouth, Dayton Kiser, and Cincinnati Roger Bacon.

Class B entrants were Tiltonville, Johnsonville, Independence, Rock Creek, Point Place, West Union, Dayton, Fairmont and Okean.

The golf tournament also was without a defending champion, Toledo St. Johns, last year's winner, having failed to survive the district meets. Qualifiers included Canton McKinley, Hamilton Catholic, Wooster, Dayton Chaminate, Dayton Stivers and Bowling Green.

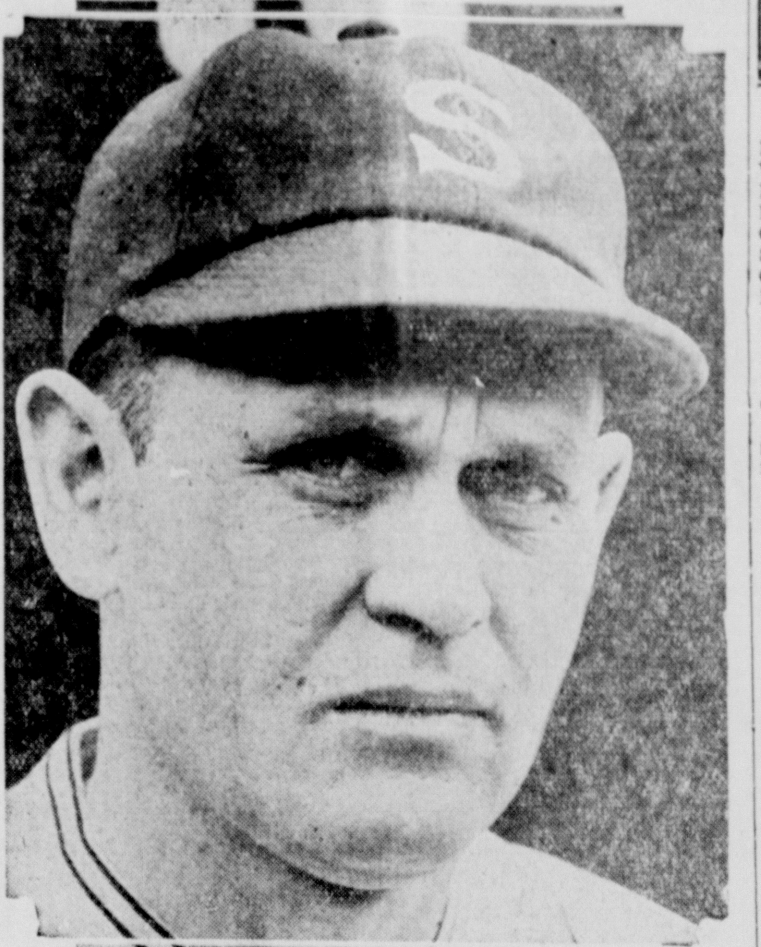

New Records Expected
Several records were expected to tumble in the Class A division of the track and field meet in which Cleveland East Tech was the favorite to win.

Olympic Hurdling Prospect

By his spectacular performance in Los Angeles recently, Jimmy Meeks of Occidental College has come to the forefront as one of the outstanding Olympic possibilities. Meeks, shown in action, ran the 400-meter hurdles within 1/2 second of the Olympic record, although it was the first time he had ever participated in the event. His time was 53.8 seconds.

Cure for Chicago Blues

Regardless of whether they win or lose, there's always a bit of cheer for the Chicago White Sox fans in the performance of Luzerne Blue at first base. Day after day he goes along fielding in a manner which makes him the best first sacker in the American League, and batting the ball at a 300 clip to drive in scores of runs for the White Sox. Blue has had a long career in baseball, playing with Detroit and St. Louis.

Church League Softball

Three wild games were played in the Salem Church league at Centennial park Thursday with St. Paul's Catholics, First Baptists and First Christians winning decisions.

Catholics nosed out Methodists, 12-11, while the Presbyterians lost to the Christians, 19-18, despite an eight-run rally in the last inning. Baptists won over Trinity Lutherans.

WALKER HISSED

IN NARROW WIN

OVER PAULINO

Victor Hits Basque After

Bell Sounds for End

Of Eighth Round

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 27.—If Mickey Walker fails to get the match with Ernie Schaaf as early in the outdoor season as he expected, he can blame it all on Paulino Uezudun, rock-ribbed old warrior from the Pyrenees.

Walker Boled

By the slimmest of margins, and partly at least, because of an illegal punch at the end of the eighth round, Walker squeezed out a ten round decision over Paulino in Madison Square Garden last night. Walker was boled as he left the ring while Paulino drew the ovation usually reserved for the winner.

The punch that turned the sympathies of the crowd to the veteran Spaniard and the tide of battle toward Walker came after he landed a left hook to the body just after the bell. But he dropped his hands and stepped back and, as he did, Walker swung a right that split the Spaniard's left eyebrow wide open.

Blow Beats Basque

That blow beat Paulino for Walker opened the cut with the first punch in the ninth round and blinded by the flow of blood, Paulino could do little from then on but step forward into Walker's lefts to the head.

Walker, if he had won decisively, was to have been matched immediately with Schaaf, but now he probably will have to give Paulino a return match first.

GEHRIG'S HOMER WINS FOR YANKS OVER SENATORS

New York First Sacker Clouts for Circuit With Bases Full

(By Associated Press)

One bad pitch a game, one ball that gets away from the pitcher and goes down the batter's alley, can very easily cost a good team a pennant, said Walter Johnson recently in explaining his preference for moundmen with tight control.

Homer Wins Game

As if to bear out his boss' contention, General Alvin Crowder of the Washington Senators tossed one up that exactly suited Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in the sixth inning yesterday.

Three Yanks were on base at the time and Gehrig spanked the ball over the right field fence. The Yanks gathered another run in the tenth for a final score of 5 to 0.

The victory perched the Yankees on top by four full games and left the Senators with only a two-game lead over the third place Detroit Tigers who were beating Chicago, 11 to 2, in the first half of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out in the fifth with the count tied, 1 to 1.

Fox Hits Homer

Jimmy Fox hit his fifteenth home run of the year, as the Athletics pounded out a 7 to 1 win over Boston. Cleveland and St. Louis were rained out.

The Boston Braves dropped off the National League pinnacle, yielding to the idle Chicago Cubs, when they got the worst of a slug-ging match with the Phillies, 17 to 3.

Brooklyn got its batting order mixed up and lost a run that would have won in regulation time, but went on to beat the Giants anyway 3 to 2, in 12 rounds.

Pittsburgh made it three straight from Cincinnati, 3 to 2, and went into fifth place, scoring all its runs off Red Lucas in the second inning.

Cue Champ Ready

Johnny Layton, ten times holder of the world's three cushion title, has returned from his camp in northern Wisconsin looking for matches. He will most likely proceed to the Pacific Coast where most of the billiard talent are preparing for a large summer exhibition program.

How to Keep from Growing Old

Here's one way of hastening the day of reckoning. The exhibition was one of the thrills staged by the motorbike men at a tournament at Tidworth, England.

Solemn Pageantry to Mark Opening of Olympic Games

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—Solemn pageantry before the tribune of honor where will be assembled many notables, including President Herbert Hoover and diplomats from 50 nations, will mark the opening of the Tenth Olympiad here July 30.

The vast Olympic Games stadium, with a seating capacity of 120,000, will be filled for the occasion.

Fluttering against the sky will be the flags of the competing nations. At one end of the stadium smoke and flame will burst from the great iron torch that must be kept lighted throughout the progress of the games.

Men and women athletes from every end of the earth will parade in native costumes, led by their diplomatic representatives. Then an assemblage of almost 3,000 athletes will take the Olympic Oath, the pledge of fine sportsmanship.

To add even more romance and glitter to the opening day, bands will play, massed choirs will sing, guns will boom their salutes, and pigeons will flutter aloft released from their cages at a given signal.

An American athlete, yet to be designated, will take the oath of Olympic allegiance for all of the participants.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

SYNOPSIS

Despite the police guard placed in her home by Commissioner Thatcher Colt, Lola Carwe, suspected "high-up" of a jewel thief ring, is mysteriously murdered. Dr. Hugh Baldwin gives heart failure as the cause of death. Those present at the time, besides Colt and his aides, were Lola's mother, Mrs. Carwe; the butler, maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney. Colt feels the young man, whose photograph adorns Lola's dresser—and whose identity she refused to reveal beyond his first name—must be connected with the mystery. At the mention of his name, Mrs. Carwe becomes hysterical, saying Lola was a "crazy" and never loved Basil. Christine Quires, Lola's guest, cannot be located, although the elevator boy claims she returned around midnight with her escort, Guy Everett, and Colt found the bag she carried. Colt phones Everett's apartment after 3 a. m. and learns Everett has no record. A clue in the form of a small white box is picked up under Lola's window. Chung, the butler, reveals that Everett had threatened Lola and that Rowland, the lawyer, warned her she was playing a dangerous game and would be caught. Eunice, the maid, discloses that Christine quarreled with Mrs. Carwe about money the afternoon of the murder. Mrs. Carwe told Christine to see Lola about it and the latter replied, "All right—Lola lives that long." The maid further states that both Lola and Christine were afraid of Guy Everett. Lola had induced him to make poor investments. And Eunice also adds that Dr. Baldwin told Lola his life would be ruined if Lola told what she knew. Guy Everett arrives. He asserts that he and Christine went out about 9:15 p. m.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

"And where did you go?"

"To a perfectly dreadful place, the Lion's Paw. Just opened. The whole place is in very bad taste."

"And what time did you get there?"

"About quarter to eleven."

"Out to Rockville Center?" said Flynn. "You were certainly breaking the speed laws."

"Oh no, positively nothing like that! It only happened that my car is a fast car," explained Guy Everett. "Now won't you gentlemen tell me why you have me here, dragged out on a fiendish night like this? Where is Miss Quires and why may I not talk with her?"

Instead of replying, Thatcher Colt walked to the mantel and picked up the purse of dead pearls. Holding it extended, he walked back to Everett.

"Ever see that before?"

"Why, yes—it's her purse—Christine's?"

"Yes—she had it with her tonight—say, what in hell is all this?"

"Don't you know?" asked Colt. "I do not."

"Don't you realize that she has disappeared after the death of Lola Carwe?"

Guy Everett was an actor. One might have fancied that he had rehearsed the histrionic exhibition which followed Colt's curt announcement. With a sweep of his graceful arm, Everett clapped his hand against his forehead. His eyes distended and his words came in gasps.

"Disappeared—and Lola dead?"

"Murdered," followed up Colt. "The actor staggered to a chair. He sat down and buried his face in his hands, and through his fingers he gasped:

"Murdered! Who would murder poor Lola?"

"What time did you leave the Lion's Paw?" Colt hastened on. "Still with his face buried in his hands, Everett replied:

"About ten minutes past eleven."

"Why did you leave so soon?"

"It was a wretched place, a great disappointment to both of us, and Christine felt ill."

"Had she been drinking?"

"Only slightly."

"You returned by automobile?"

"Yes. I came into the lobby downstairs, but Christine wouldn't let me come up here."

"And then you went home?"

"Yes."

"Now, Mr. Everett, you arrived here around twelve-fifteen. You left here, let us say, at twelve-thirty. You arrived at the Axon Club some time after three o'clock. Where were you during that intervening time?"

Guy Everett dropped his hands to his knees and looked at Colt haggardly.

"Look here," he said, "you don't think I had anything to do with this, do you?"

"Didn't you hear what the Commissioner asked you?" roared Dougherty, beating Flynn to it. "Answer the question! What did you do during those three hours?"

"Well," replied the actor thoughtfully, "I don't suppose you gentlemen will understand, but I am an artist, a sensitive person, and I enjoy romantic impressions. When I got into my car tonight I had not the slightest idea of where I was going or what I should do. It was a beastly night, wet, snow falling, a night for witches. I suddenly got the idea that I would like to spend the night alone driving around the country. So I drove back over the Queensborough Bridge and down through Jamaica to the Motor Parkway. The roads are pretty well deserted tonight. I don't think I passed two cars, and after I got as far as Hicksville, I turned around and came back."

Blank silence followed this report. Four pairs of eyes were fixed upon Mr. Guy Everett.

Finally Dougherty exploded.

"Is that the best story you could make up?" he barked. "Why, confound you, Everett, you insult the intelligence of every man in this room. Do you expect us to believe a cock-and-bull story like that?"

"Excuse me, Mr. Dougherty," interrupted Flynn, "but there are some boys downtown who would like to have a session in the back room with Mr. Everett."

Everett gave a straight look at the Inspector.

"I suppose by that you mean that you are going to attack me physically," he said with a sudden and gratifying dignity. "I have told you nothing more nor less than the truth. I do not think I shall be afraid of your third degree. I served my country four years in the war."

"Our boys were over there too," Flynn grimly returned.

"Never mind that," decided Thatcher Colt. "For the moment, at least, we shall accept Mr. Everett's fantastic recital. It is not altogether unbelievable, but there are ways by which it can be substantiated."

"Substantiated?" repeated Everett, with a glance of astonishment.

"You know, of course," continued Thatcher Colt serenely, "one has to pay a fee in order to drive on the Motor Parkway. One receives a ticket which is surrendered on passing out of the gates. You did pay your fee tonight, didn't you, Mr. Everett?"

The actor's tongue moistened his lips.

"Yes, of course," he replied huskily.

"Very well," said Colt. "Show Inspector Flynn your car license and he will check up on the matter. Good-morning, Mr. Everett."

With a bewildered air, the actor gave the papers to Flynn, and then stood up. He shook himself like a man trying to throw off a chill. Then he straightened into a military posture and bowed from the waist.

His hand was on the knob when Colt's voice halted his departure.

"Mr. Everett!"

"Yes, Mr. Commissioner!"

"How are your financial affairs at the moment?"

Over his shoulder the actor

Glorifying 'New York's Finest'

To no less a personage than Howard Chandler Christy, noted artist, fell the task of glorifying New York's 1932 crop of rookie cops. The model is one of a class of 275 police recruits who will be graduated May 25th at Madison Square Garden ceremonies, passing in review before Mayor James J. Walker and the consul generals of New York.

What could be the meaning of this astonishing discovery? That there was some secret liaison between Lola's personal maid and Everett seemed definitely established by the finding of this card.

"Get that girl back here!" snapped Thatcher Colt.

In her second examination, Eunice was dissolved in tears and it was not hard to drag from her the truth she had tried to hide. She had a secret admiration for Guy Everett, a concealed passion. Recently Mr. Everett had returned her glances. They had met clandestinely. He had even given her money.

"For what?" barked Dougherty.

"To watch what went on in this house and tell him," wailed Eunice, unhappy in her betrayal of her idol.

"And what did you tell him?"

"Everything! I told him when Christine and Lola fought, and what they said."

"Did you ever hear Mr. Everett threaten Lola?"

"Never—oh, Mr. Everett didn't do it. Mr. Everett is always the perfect gent—please believe that."

She was off in hysterics, then, and they had to take her away. Colt and Dougherty looked at each other, but refrained from comment. Later they would consider, match, assemble, and try to fit together these segments of testimony. The object now was to learn as much as possible and as quickly as possible.

EUGENE, Ore.—In May, 1913, Mrs. Thomas Aubrey was living in Portland. She mailed a post card to her father, W. B. Andrews, Eugene pioneer. The post card arrived in Eugene in May, 1932, just 20 years late. It is about 100 miles from Portland to Eugene. Mr. Andrews died seven years before the card arrived.

Man Held for British Authorities, Said to Be Fritz Duquesne, Nemesis of England. Insists He Is Not "Man Who Killed Kitchener."

ABOVE ARE THREE PICTURES SHOWING CAPTAIN FRITZ DUQUESNE, IN BOER UNIFORM; THE SAME MAN AS HE APPEARED IN NEW YORK 13 YEARS AGO AND "F. DE TROFFORD CRIVEN," WHOM NEW YORK POLICE ARE NOW HOLDING, BELIEVING HIM TO BE THE ELUSIVE DUQUESNE, FOR WHOM BRITISH AUTHORITIES HAVE LONG SOUGHT ON CHARGES RANGING FROM ARSON TO MURDER ON THE HIGH SEAS. DUQUESNE, ACCORDING TO A RECENTLY PUBLISHED BOOK, HAD DEDICATED HIS LIFE TO A WAR OF BATTLES AGAINST GREAT BRITAIN, IN REVENGE FOR THE TREATMENT
METED OUT TO HIS PEOPLE DURING THE BOER WAR. THE HIGHEST OF THIS MAN OF VENGEANCE WAS REACHED IN 1916, WHEN DUQUESNE SET THE GERMAN SUBMARINE TRAP THAT SUNK THE H. M. S. HAMPSHIRE ON ITS WAY TO RUSSIA WITH FIFTY MARSHAL EARL KITCHENER ON BOARD. HOWEVER, CRIVEN WILL NOT ADMIT THAT HE IS THE COLORFUL DUQUESNE, AND, AS DUQUESNE'S FINGER-PRINT RECORDS ARE MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING FROM POLICE FILES, THERE DOESN'T SEEM TO BE ANY WAY TO HANG AN IDENTITY ON HIM THAT HE DOES NOT WANT.

STIPES ARE VERY SMART

PATTERN 2345
Smart and mighty slender when they run up and down! This is one of the loveliest cotton frocks we've seen this season and it uses the stripes so well, that no matter how much weight you've put on, this frock will hide it. That upward point of the bodice gives the popular higher waistline effect so difficult on most figures, but this is perfect. Aren't the flared sleeves lets adorable!

Pattern 2345 is obtainable only in sizes 14 to 20 and 22 to 44. Size 18

"30 Years of Knowing How"

Heiress' Annulment Suit Requiem of "Undying Romance"

Fifty Million-Dollar Hutton Heiress Seeks Abrogation of Marriage to Playwright. Doubts Legality of His Previous Divorce.

With the institution of annulment proceedings in the New York Supreme Court by Mrs. Preston Sturges, the former Eleanor Post Hutton, the marital dyke has begun with the element of the author of "Strictly Disheveled" and the society heiress to $50,000,000, seems slated for the Valhalla of shattered romances. According to the beautiful Eleanor, when she married Preston Sturges in 1930, the author neglected to inform her that he was not then legally divorced from his former wife, Estelle Hutton Sturges. The annulment suit comes as a big surprise to New York society as did the marriage of the couple in the face of parental objections and threats of disinheritance. Though rumors that the Sturges marital baroque had encountered rough weather have been abroad for some time, Mrs. Sturges has invariably silenced them with the brave statement that there was an "undying romance" and that no power on earth could part them. Eleanor was graduated from an exclusive finishing school in Farmingdale, L. I., after which she made her debut at one of the most brilliant coming-out parties ever seen in New York.
The following season she was presented to the British rulers at the Court of St. James's. Sturges, a son of Marie Desli, authoress, was a newspaperman in Chicago until he made good at play writing. He resided and studied in Paris, where he was served with the papers informing him of his wife's dis-own-able action.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Flower Arrangement An Art
It's a gift--this ability to take a few flowers and with a deft flourish, arrange them in a bowl with the grace of nature. But those who havent the gift can study the art and get the same results. For there are definite rules--one flower lower says he could write a book of rules on how to arrange flowers in the home.

An important aspect is what not to do. Too many err on the side of excess. The thoughtless but ardent flower devotee may mass an over-opulent array of all sizes and colors, and varieties, and use all kinds of elaborate containers.
First rule to remember in flower arrangement is, avoid over-crowding. When in doubt, veer to the side of simplicity.

Second, choose containers that blend with the flowers, that act as a natural background, and that are not so repugnant that they overwhelm the blooms.

If an assortment of bowls and vases is acquired and chosen with care, there will always be something in which to display flowers to good advantage. There should be simple small bowls, a few shallow, some deep or delicately tinted glass or pottery. Nasturtium pansies, forget-me-nots, violets, almost arrange themselves in this type of container.

For the tall flowers--gladioli, dahlia, gladioli, iris--naturally there should be tall receptacles, of pottery, glass, pewter, or the composition new metals. Blooms can be chosen, or cut, so that they are one and one-half times as high as their vase.

Too many colors is an indication that flowers have been placed unthinkingly. They will be set off to much better advantage if only one, or at most, two colors appear in a single setting. Flowers grow in many shades and tints--like zinnias, dahlia, nasturtium, etc., will be more radiant if separated according to color, and not more than one color used in a single container. At least, a few similar tints of the same color.

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's All-Bran contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "ballast" which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "ballast" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Check common constipation -- with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy -- by eating this delicious cereal. How much plainer than taking pills and drugs -- so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoons daily
-- sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red and green package. Made by Kellogg

THEATER Attractions

THE most sweeping indictment of gangland which the American public has been privileged to witness is Howard Hughes' great motion picture, "SCARFACE," the picture which opened today at the State theater.

"Scarface" is a terrifying picture and at times it thrills to the very marrow, but it is entertainment. It moves from one setting to another with lightning speed (62 sets were used in filming the picture—a record). Its characterizations ring true, and the audience is held spell-bound with suspense as the plot unfolds.

"Scarface" is admirably directed by Howard Hawks, and brilliantly acted by Paul Muni, who plays the title role; by Ann Dvorak, the new Howard Hughes discovery; by Karen Morley, Osgood Perkins, C. Henry Gordon, George Raft, Vince Barnett, Ines Palange and others of the distinguished cast.

Her Father Honored

Mrs. Leila Morse Rummel, 32-year-old daughter of Samuel F. B. Morse, is shown as she broadcast from Paris on the 100th anniversary of her father's invention of the electromagnetic telegraph. The program was introduced by President Hoover from Washington, and Signor Marconi, radio wizard spoke from London.
